ABOUT US

Indian Institute of Handloom Technology, Varanasi is an AICTE approved Institution. The quality policy of the Institute is to impart quality education in the field of Handlooms & Textiles, leading to the award of Diploma in Handloom & Textile Technology (DHTT), Post Diploma in Textile Processing (PDTP) and Bachelor of Technology in Handloom & Textile Technology (B.Tech in HTT). The Institute is located at Chowkaghat near old Kolkata-Delhi G.T.Road, adjacent to the residence of the Vice Chancellor of Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Chowkaghat (JagatGanj) area. It is situated at a distance of 2 kilometers from the Varanasi Railway Junction and the main Bus Stand. The Varanasi (Babatpur) Airport is at a distance of 25 kilometers from the Institute.

The Institute was established during 1956 by the All India Handloom Board for the development of Handloom sector. It is the oldest Institute among all IIHTs. Now it is functioning under the administrative control of Office of the Development Commissioner for Handlooms, Ministry of Textiles, Government of India. This Institute was setup with the prime objective of providing technical personnel trained in new methods and latest developments in the field of Handloom and Textile Technology to face the challenges in the today's context.

This Institute has been equipped with good infrastructure of laboratories comprising all the equipments and machinery related to Handloom and Textile Industry. Teaching the students about the Textile Technology starting with the fundamentals and practices of traditional Handloom Technology and Fabric structure is the inherent strength of the curriculum designed by the Institute.

The curriculum covers all the subjects involved from the yarn to finished fabric covering preparatory processes, fabric designing, weaving technology, textile processing, textile testing & Quality control. The alumni of this Institute have been proving their excellence not only in the State and Central Government organizations connected with Handlooms and Textiles but also in the decentralized and organized Mill sectors, Export Houses, Garment Manufacturing Units, and Testing Laboratories. Many alumni have also emerged as entrepreneurs running their own fabric manufacturing Units, dyeing factories, and design studios both for local and export market.

OUR VISION

The Institute shall aim at providing world class quality education in Handloom & Textile Technology by paying individual attention. We will inculcate the values of character building so as to develop our students to become responsible citizens of the society.

OUR MISSION

At IIHT, Varanasi, we lay down the highest possible technical standards of training to produce professional technocrats to lead the Textile industry in general and Handloom industry in particular. We do undertake Research & Development activities for the sustainable growth of the industry by Techno- economical up-gradation so as to enable it to face the shop floor and environmental challenges.

QUALITY POLICY

IIHT, Varanasi is committed to provide quality education in Handloom & Textiles to fulfill the need and expectation of students/parents, industry and society at large.

This is being achieved by:

- Team Work
- Continual improvement of the Quality Management System
- Up-gradation of knowledge and skills of faculty and staff.
